100.15Residence Service*1. Service Description

Service is classified as residence when:

- (a) it is used primarily for domestic or family purposes
- (b) it is in a location of habitation, and
- (c) none of the circumstances requiring business classification apply.

Residence service also applies to certain types of family farm operations where, in the opinion of SaskTel, the residence classification applies.

2. Conditions of Service

1. Residence service may be extended from a location of habitation to a location of non-habitation (e.g.: from a house to a garage, shed, barn, etc.). In these cases the classification of the service remains as residence.
2. When residence service is changed to business service, the customer's telephone number does not necessarily change.
